

Harlem Children's Z O N E

What is the best way to address the relationship
between poverty,
education, and career
success?

Paul Tough

Whatever It Takes (2008)

*How Children
Succeed* (2012)

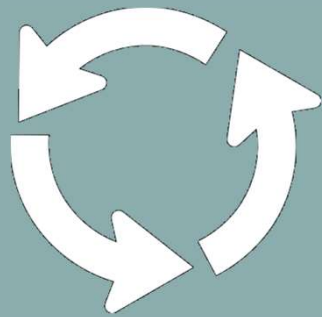

Geoffrey Canada

1. Why are poor people poor?
2. Why do they stay poor?
3. What would it take for them to get out of poverty?

The Problem

THE SYSTEM

THE PEOPLE

The “Solution”

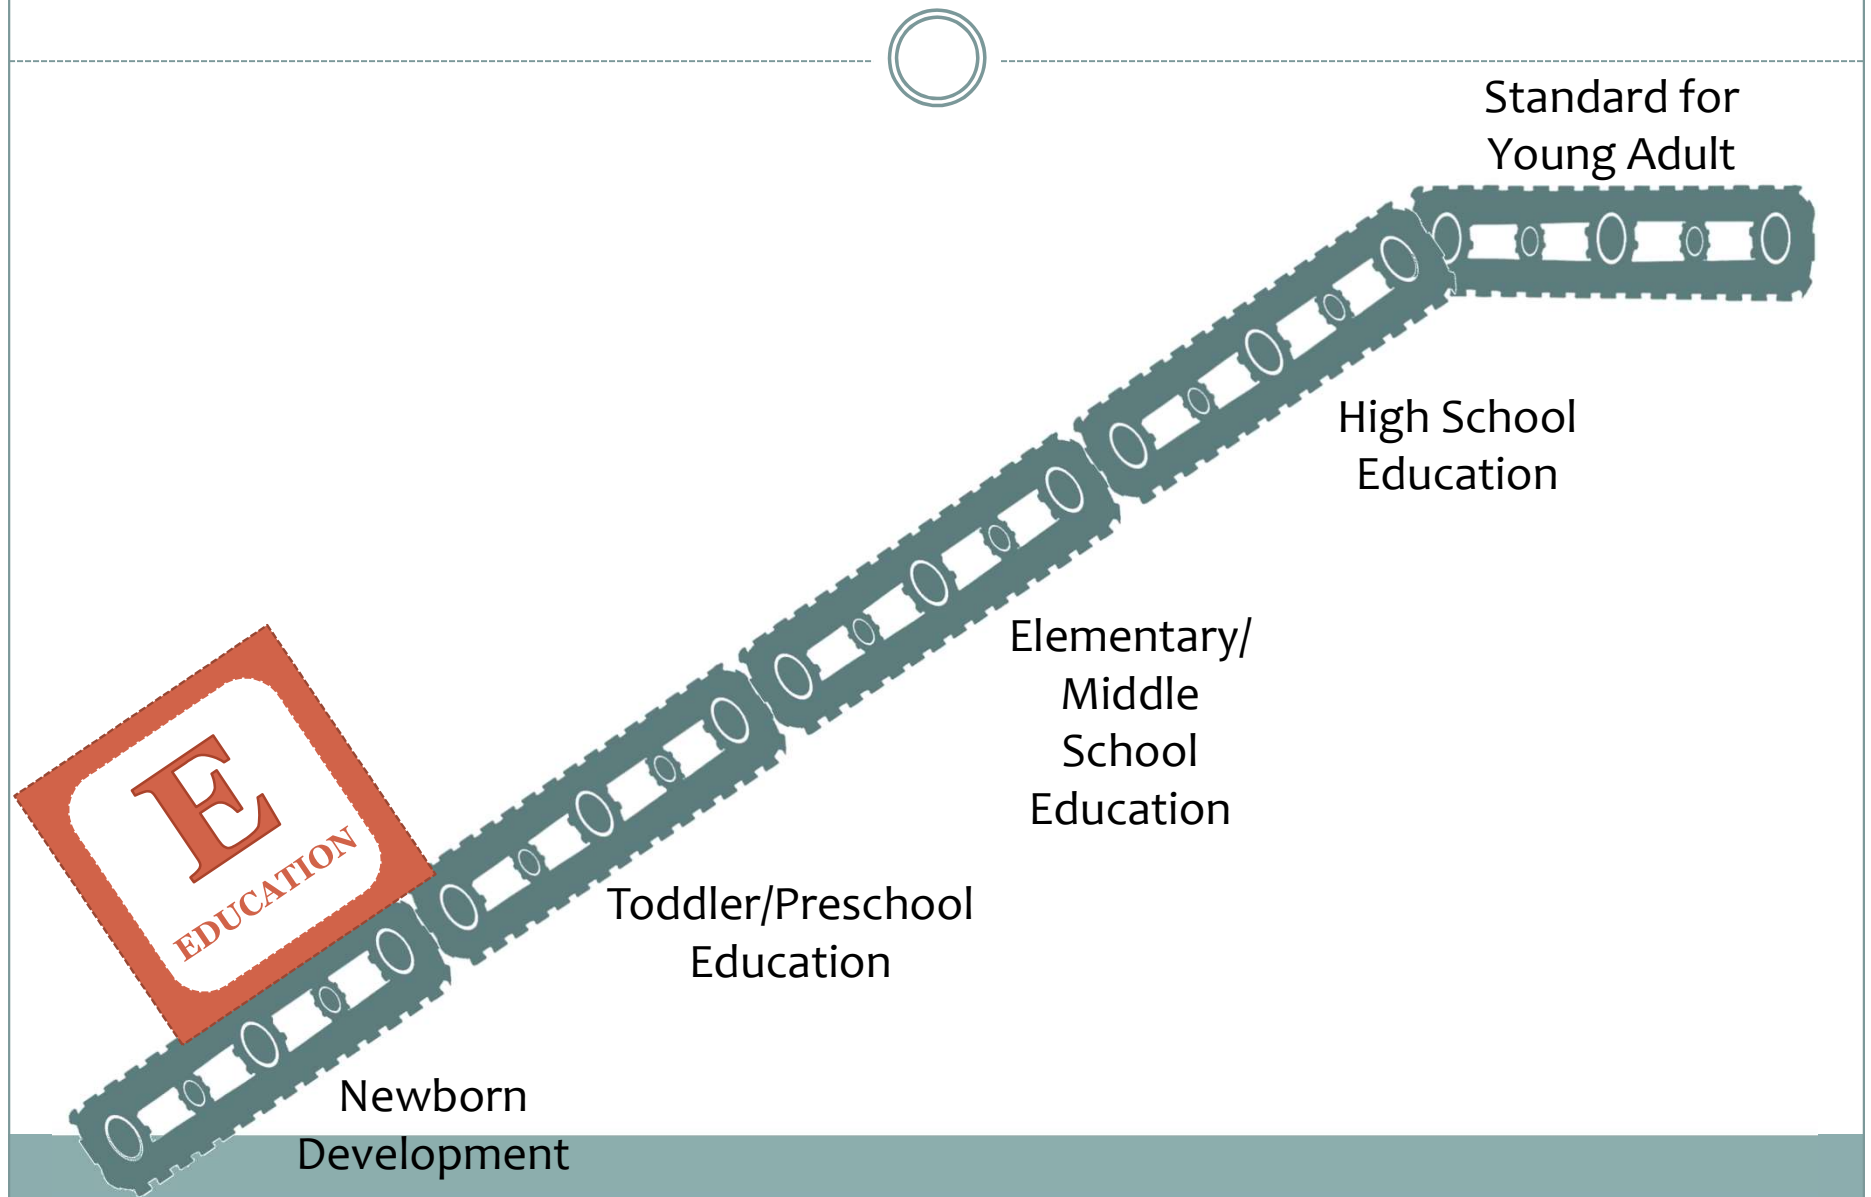

NECESSITIES

GUIDANCE & RULES

The Harlem Children's Zone 10-year growth plan

The Conveyor Belt

The Conveyor Belt

Standard for Young Adult

High School
Education

Elementary/
Middle School
Education

The Conveyor Belt

Standard for Young Adult

High School
Education

Elementary/
Middle School Education

The Baby
College

The Conveyor Belt

- HCZ Community Centers
- Beacon Community Centers

- Housing Development Community Centers
- Community Pride
- Single Stop & Tax Preparation

- Preventive Programs

- Healthy Harlem
- Harlem Armory
- HCZ Food Services

Middle School

Promise Academy
Middle Schools

A Cut Above

Promise Academy Elementary Schools

E EDUCATION

Peacemakers

Elementary School

Early Childhood

The Baby College

The Three-Year-Old Journey

Harlem Gems

College

College Preparatory Program

The College Success
Office

High School

Promise Academy Elementary Schools

Truce Media & Arts

Employment
&
Technology Center

Learn to Earn

Middle School

Promise Academy
Middle Schools

A Cut Above

Promise

Contamination

The Results

1

HOW MANY

2

IMPROVEMENT

3

LONG TERM

4

ADAPTABLE

Harlem Children's Zone

12,000+ students

dramatic increase in state test scores

95% college-bound

+20 Promise Neighborhoods

How do they compare?

	HCZ	KIPP
1		X
2	X	X
3	X
4		X

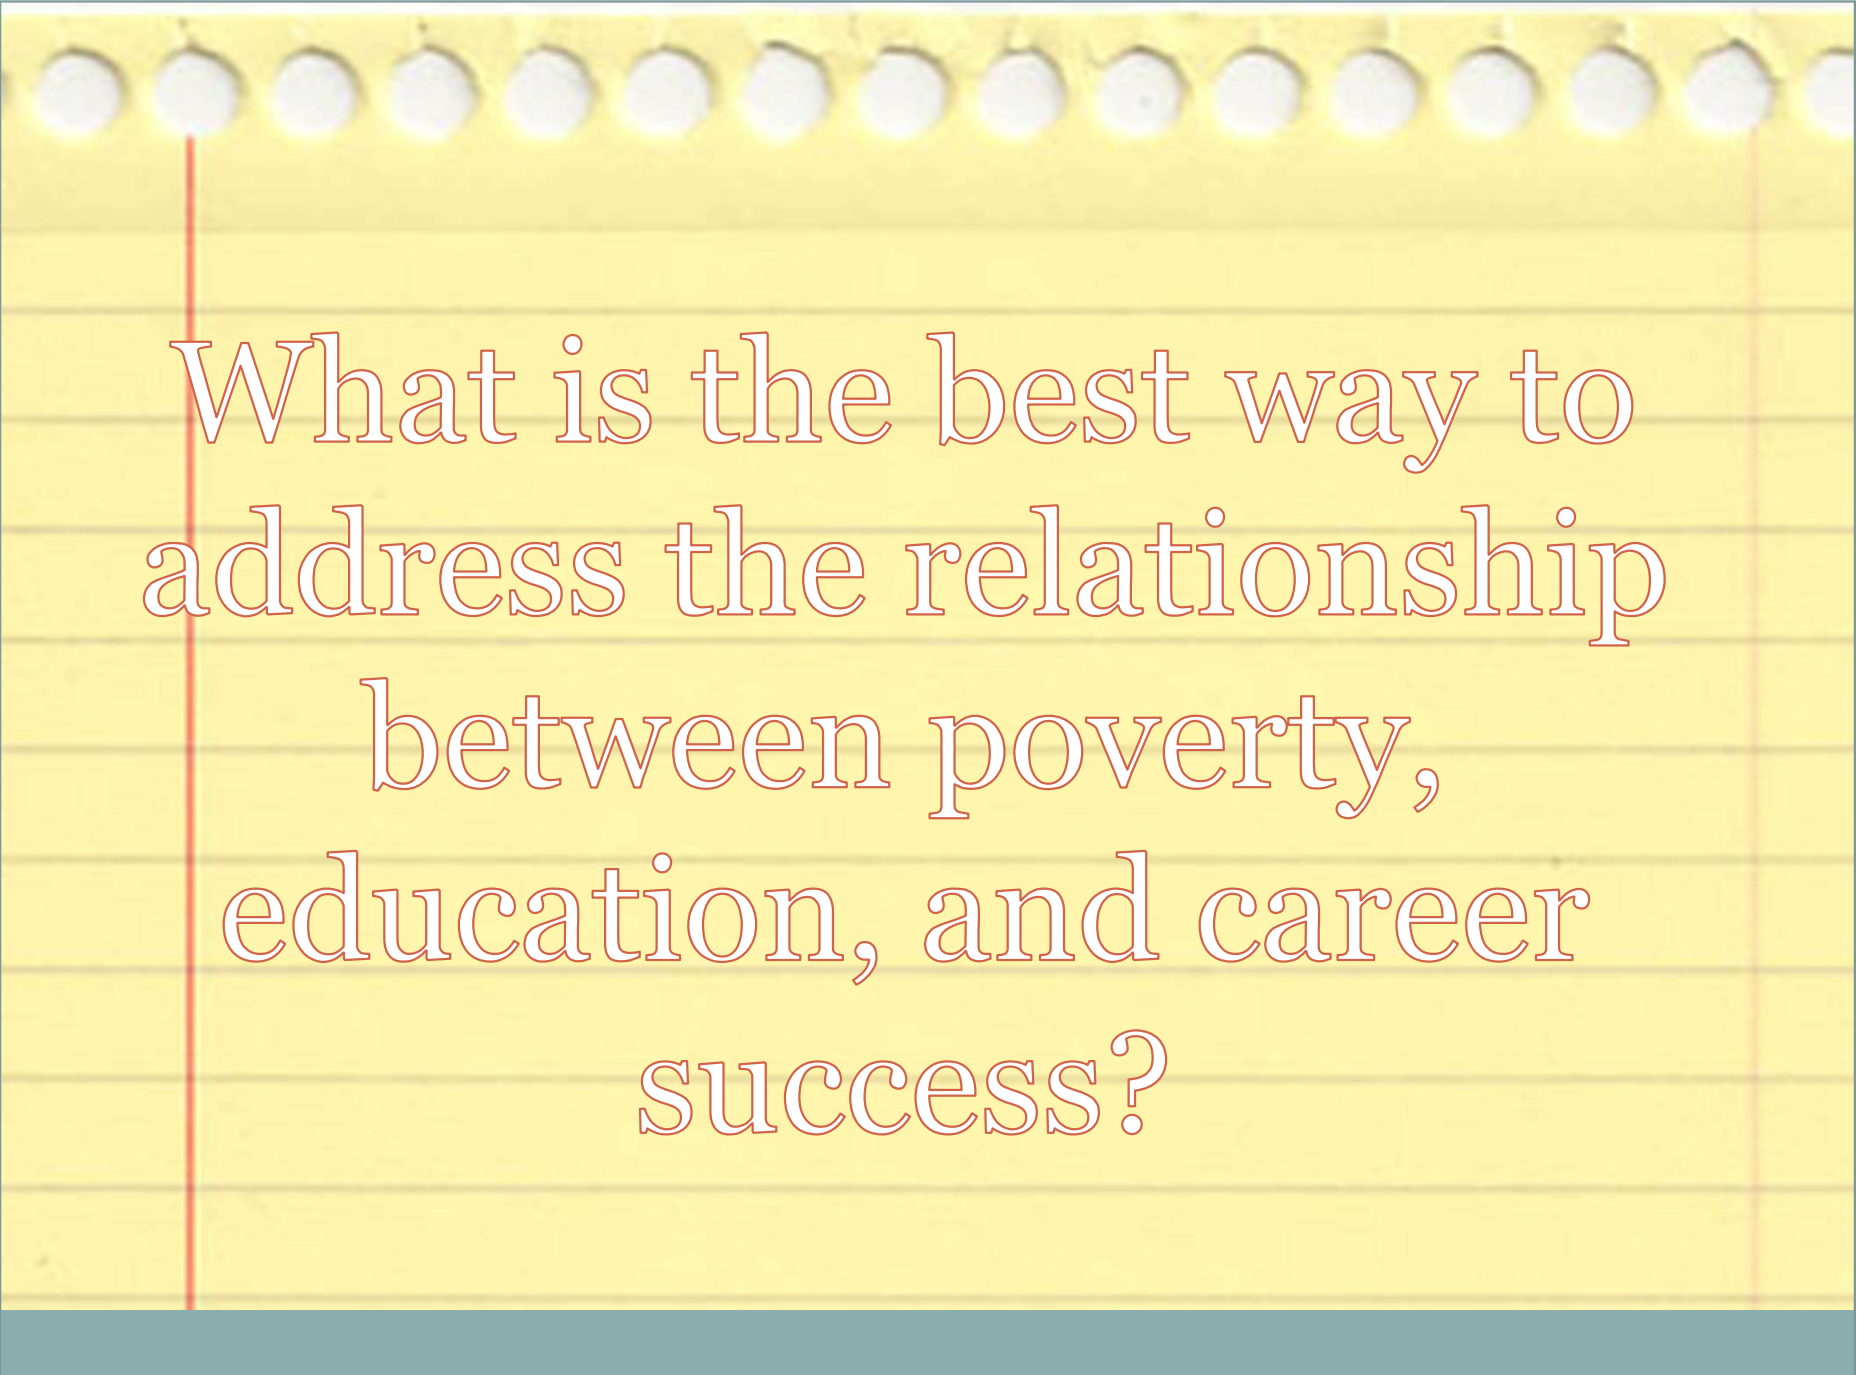

Expansion of Promise Zones

= Location of PNs Interviewed

What is the best way to
address the relationship
between poverty,
education, and career
success?

